The Leadership Progression

The Leadership Progression is defined as a minimum of four semesters' participation in the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets, including participation in the New Cadet System; satisfactory completion of at least two Corps leadership positions, and having passed at least once during a cadet career, an ROTC or Corps Physical Fitness test (or alternate test in case of physical disability). Corps leadership positions which satisfy this requirement are those which have direct supervisory responsibility over other cadets and include: Team Leader, Cadre Corporal/Sergeant, Squad Leader, Platoon Sergeant, First Sergeant, Battalion and Regimental Sergeants Major, Platoon Leader, Company, Battalion and Regimental Executive Officer, any command position, and selected Battalion and Regimental Staff positions which have supervisory responsibility over other cadets.

Note: University policy limits the number of Pass/Fail credits a student may take to 10% of total number of credits needed to graduate. For example, a transfer student who needs only 80 credits to graduate is limited to 8 Pass/Fail credits. Students who are affected by this limitation should discuss it with their advisors.
